"A vision is not just a picture of what could be; it is an appeal to our better selves, a call to become something more." ~Rosabeth Moss Kantor

Dear friends,

Today, there are two important opportunities for you to become part of the JRPC team. After nearly 8 years at the job, Nancy Leifer is retiring from the position of Volunteer Coordinator for the Jeannette Rankin Peace Center. "As volunteer coordinator, I was able to meet and get to know a wonderful diversity of people drawn to JRPC because of their dedication to peace and justice," Leifer reported. "Serving as JRPC's volunteer coordinator enriched my life immeasurably through the friendships I made and through the opportunity to work for peace. I highly recommend this position to anyone who enjoys meeting people and helping them understand the mission of JRPC and how they can best volunteer."

In addition, our librarian, Jane Duncan is retiring after almost 13 years. Jane has stewarded our "vast wealth of resources (books, videos and other materials) on peace and justice available to our community." Both jobs are volunteer positions. The job descriptions are available and both Nancy and Jane will be available to help new volunteers understand how the positions work. "This is a wonderful opportunity for someone to take the volunteer program and the library at JRPC to a whole new level," Leifer said. "Most importantly, this is an opportunity to have fun while helping the cause of peace and justice in Missoula." Anyone interested in finding out more, please contact me at peace@jrpc.org...Betsy

Western Montana, a non-partisan science and democracy advocacy group based in Missoula County for a guided discussion on inclusive spaces in Montana. Together we will explore some of the following questions: How can we build a more inclusive Montana that reflects and celebrates the diversity of our state? How can we raise the voices of those less heard? How can we strive to include all Montanans' perspectives in our policy and decision making? While we are coming at this topic from the lens of environmental policy advocacy, we encourage all people interested in inclusive spaces in Montana to join. This will be an opportunity to learn from each other through group discussion and asking questions. Celebrate this Earth Day by taking a step towards creating a more inclusive Montana, and more inclusive planet. Please e-mail us at WancourL@gmail.com if you plan to come so we can plan for food. Snacks will be provided. Beer and kombucha will be available for purchase.
